LSK PARTICIPATES IN THE NATIONAL COMMISSION ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE (NCAJ) TECHNICAL COMMITTEE MEETING

The Law Society of Kenya was represented by Mr. Job Mati at the National Commission on the Administration of Justice (NCAJ) Technical Committee meeting held on 21st May 2024. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the draft policy guidelines on "Strategic Guideline Framework for Greening Kenya's Justice System 2024" for the NCAJ.

The draft policy guidelines on (Strategic Guiding Framework for Greening Kenya's Justice System 2024) were presented by Prof. Jack Mwimali.

On the issue of appreciating the concept of greening the justice system, he indicated that, there were various descriptions used to describe greening. These included:

1. Greening referred to transforming space/place by planting of trees;
2. Greening could refer to transforming a place by making it environmentally friendly, and
3. Greening could also be interpreted to mean conservation of the environment in the course of achieving individual's or collective fulfilment.

The following were the objectives of the said draft policy guidelines:

1. To integrate environmental sustainability practices into the policies, procedures and operations of justice sector agencies in Kenya.
2. To guide justice sector agencies on effective implementation of greening initiatives and environmental preservation.
3. To share best practices, resources and innovations in environmental sustainability.

On the issue of the Greening of the Justice System, Prof. Jack Mwimali further indicated that the system consists of numerous and interconnected greening elements. The NCAJ Research No.1 of 2024, which served as the foundation for the development of this framework, categorized these elements as functional, physical, legislative, policy, procedural, technology adoption, rights-based, advocacy, human resources and knowledge-building greening. This section recommended interventions, organized by element, that aim to guide justice actors towards environmentally sustainable practices within the justice sector. He noted that Justice actors could adopt the recommendations proposed in this section or customize them to enhance their suitability for implementation.

At the end of the workshop/meeting, the following objectives were met by the NCAJ Technical Committee:

- The team appreciated the analysis of the level of understanding of greening the justice system.
- The team understood the concept of greening the justice system.
- The team appreciated the efforts and status of greening Kenya's justice system.
- The team understood the intended strategies for greening Kenya's justice system.

Dr. Maranga informed the meeting that the policy would be tabled before the NCAJ Council for adoption.
